Person Centre Care Initiatives

DementiAbility- uses details about our resident's past and present and observations of their current behaviours to adapt the environment and our approach to improve their quality of life.

GPA:- Gentle Persuasive Approach is an education program that provides staff with the knowledge, skills and confidence to support persons with dementia and responsive behaviours, including escalated behaviours that may require gentle and respectful physical redirection.

Research projects with UBC IDEA lab:

Rosewood Manor is part of 3 research projects that use dementia friendly technology to lessen the negative behaviours associated with dementia.

1. Zinnia TV- dementia friendly programming used on TV, iPad and in an immersive reality setting. To provide an appropriate and engaging environment for residents with dementia.

2. Silent Disco Headphones- explore whether music delivered by silent disco headphones can support mental health and well-being among people with dementia. The project will start in June. Stay tuned for more information.

3. Immersive virtual reality- is the use of ceiling mounted projectors as an alternative to Virtual reality headsets when presenting immersive content. In June a wall in the Steveston lounge (in SW) will be painted and a ceiling mounted projector will be installed.
